

Good afternoon everyone,

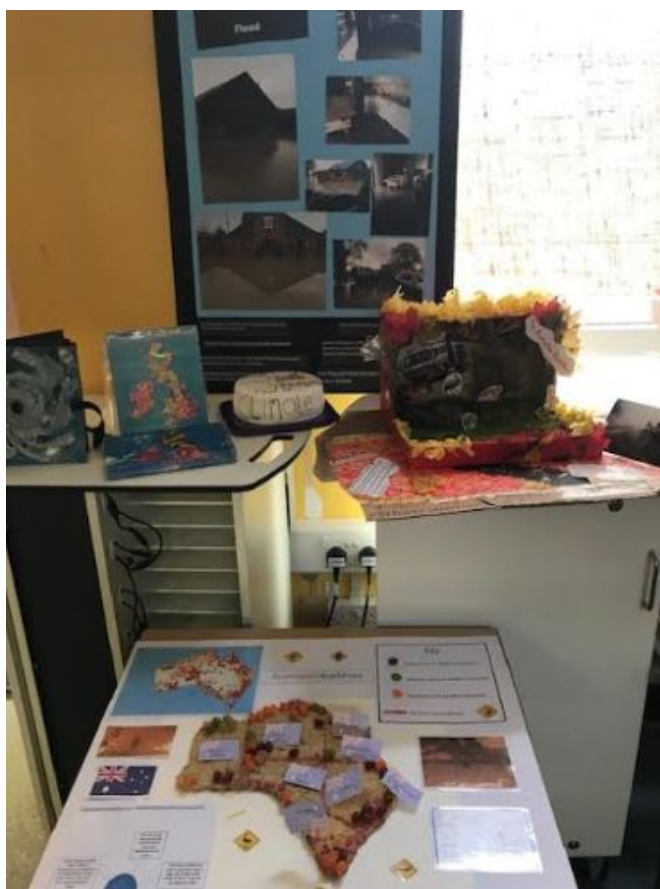

Cancer Awareness

A big thank you!

Today we will have had a quiet moment or two to consider why we have been raising money for charities which either support people with cancer or research ways of developing cures or treatments for cancer. We will also share a positive thought, that together we must look after each other and think of happy memories of people we may have lost.

Amazing!

I continue to hope that the reduction of homework to reading every day, practising spelling patterns and mental maths like times tables is working well for you and your children. It has also allowed us and you to share and undertake a really worthwhile learning project from time to time. Once again, and in this case year 5, the projects that have returned today are incredible. Under the theme of Climate Change, a whole range of creative cakes, posters and models of every description arrived at school. Each of them with important messages, research and facts. Below is just a sample of a few of them. Thank you so much.

Have a lovely weekend.

Kind Regards

Chris Evans
